ARMENIAN REVOLT LIKELY.

  Special Cablegram.

London, Oct. 13.—The Constantinople correspondent of The Times says the revolutionary committees have lately resumed their activity in Armenia, where it appears that a rising is being prepared for the early Spring. Some attempts at revolt have already been made.

The movement receives help and encouragement from the Armenian population of the Russian trans-Caspian provinces.

The New York Times

Published: October 13, 1903
Copyright © The New York Times